ANDREW PASCOE

DEVELOPER

A native to the Washington, D.C. area, Mr. Pascoe joined Unison as a web developer. Mr. Pascoe supports the design team by providing back-end engineering solutions.

Most recently, he served as an analyst for BlackRock's trading analytics group in New York and California. During his time at BlackRock, he provided support to portfolio managers by developing option adjusted analyses on fixed income securities and derivatives, as well as working on the trading floor to optimize the systems that drive trading decisions.

Mr. Pascoe earned a B.S. in Systems Engineering and an M.S. in Commerce with a concentration in Finance. He also studied international business strategy at the Danish Institute of Studies in Copenhagen.
